

EVERGREENS, HOLLY AND MISTLETOE

The Union Undergoes Transformation for To-night Dance

ADNEY PLAYS

Final Preparation Guarantee Absolute Success

Under the soft glow of a hundred coloured lights and half-hidden in a small grove of transplanted fir, Adney's orchestra will play the opening extra for the Union House Christmas party half past eight this evening. And from the first of the first extra to the final strains of the last waltz, joy will be entered in the McGill Union.

Yesterday, from morning until far into the night, the members of the House Committee worked rapidly at the task of transforming the Union's interior and to-night, when the couples pass through the main entrance, they will find themselves in a land of evergreens, where sprigs big and little bells, symbolic of the Christmas season, sway gently and silently over the heads of those on pleasure bent. Gay tinsel, red and green streamers, strings of lights and bulbs of brittle substance, will fall in carefully aesthetic array over the thirty fir, which have found their way from distant forests to the Union hall room and lounge room, and in three corners of the big upper room, larger trees will cause the average domesticated species of Christmas tree to fade into sheer insignificance. In the regions of the ceilings, green and red globes will send their intermingling rays of coloured light over the entire scene, covering all in soft and delicate shades.

The balloons, move over will be almost as numerous as grains of sand upon the shores of the sea, for the designers and executors of the dance believed that streamers, after their use, were an unnecessary hindrance; and in this belief, they purchased more of the pleasingly breakable spheres to replace the long strings of coloured papers. Balloons also will be used to carry out a portion of the decorative scheme, the words "Union House" being inscribed on the Juliet balcony by means of the inflated spheroids. The patron saint of Christmas parties, the venerable Claus, has been invoked by outstanding members of the committee and consequently he will gaze down upon the festive scene from one corner of the ball room. Not only that; he will announce the dance numbers by the miraculous appearance of the requisite figures in his merrily glowing eyes.

The catering, dedicated to the wants of the inner man, will be of the highest order for Mr. Honneger, dance provider par excellence, is in charge of the refreshments and has guaranteed absolute satisfaction. The dance programme, who is an artistic success the designer being Gardiner of Architecture.

The members of the House Committee, it may be said, were not able to place the decorations without an element of personal danger, but they scolded tall ladders and hung by finger nails without shaking an eyelid.

The dance is scheduled to start at half past eight and Glen Adney and his orchestra enthusiastically received. (Continued on page 4.)

DR. STEPHEN LEACOCK A MAN WORTH KNOWING SAYS N. Y. DEMOCRAT

Dr. Stephen Leacock, the Canadian humorist, seems to be a man it would be worth anybody's while to know, according to the Democrat and Chronicle. His candor is one of his engaging qualities and he realizes and confesses his limitations, one of which is incapacity to cut a broad financial swath in the present state of society which has revised the youth's shorter catechism so as to make acquisition the chief end of man. Presumably he knows that the secret of success consists in buying things—stocks and land and merchandise—when they are cheap and selling them when they are dear; also that gratifying accumulations are often acquired by printing chronicles or engraving ornate certificates with their values stated and disposing of them to credulous collectors as readily as possible at the prices printed on their face. Very comfortable fortunes are thus amassed, and now and then enviable wealth. Of course, Dr. Leacock knows these A. B. C.'s of

BLISS CARMAN WILL GIVE READINGS

Another Opportunity to Hear Canada's Greatest Poet

Of great interest to the literature loving section of McGill is the news that Bliss Carman, "The sweetest lyricist in all America," to-day repeats his visit of last year. The author of such works as "Pipes of Pan," "Behind the Arras," "Songs From Vagabondia," etc., is speaking to-night at 8.30 in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C.

It will be remembered that Bliss Carman gave a reading about this time last year to an audience that filled the Convocation Hall, and which gave him a reception, as he said, which greatly encouraged him in the transcontinental tour he was then making. To-day he will give a reading of different selections from his writings which have caused him to be called "The Swinburne of Canadian Poetry," and which led to his crown of laurel a few years ago, acknowledging him as Canadian Poet Laureate. Bliss Carman is an example of our few great Canadian writers who have been forced to seek recognition in the United States, unable to find sufficient interest and support in Canada. However, he is a real Canadian of U.E.L. stock, born in Fredericton, educated in New Brunswick, gaining his M.A. degree there. Later he studied at Harvard and Edinburgh, and receiving honorary degrees from McGill and Harvard. It is strange to think that this sweet poet was at one time an engineer. He successfully studied law, practised engineering, taught school, and became a journalist. Interesting also is the fact that he is a Socialist.

Tickets are on sale at the Registrar's office at twenty-five cents to students. All others must pay fifty cents.

BASKETBALL TEAM GOES TO STATES

Meets Dartmouth and Vermont Over Week end

The senior basketball team yesterday secured an old and experienced leader, when Turpel was elected captain. Until recently he has been horsed combat owing to water on the knee, but is now back in full form. Though Turpel did not play senior basketball last year he was a regular two years ago, and the guidance of such an experienced player will prove a factor in winning whatever laurels come to McGill during this trip. A severe blow was suffered by the team yesterday when it was discovered that George Hilton, by some mischance, has not been medically examined, and will be unable to accompany the team. Hilton's playing on the defence was a feature of last Saturday's game, and the loss is a severe one.

Of last year's team Philpotts, Quackenbush, Blumenstein and Boucher are still in the fray, so it will be seen that McGill is sending up a bunch of fledglings to uphold the honour of the University.

Dartmouth is said to have a particularly strong team this year, with players such as Friedman and Pick-

OPPOSITION PARTY NAMED CONSERVATIVE

Enthusiastic Caucus Yesterday in Union

GLASSCO TO LEAD

Several Parliamentarians Emerge From Retirement To Support Reorganized Group

At an enthusiastic caucus held in the Union at five o'clock yesterday it was definitely decided to adopt the principles of the Conservative platform. The party which was defeated at the last session of Parliament remains with the same personnel but will be added to very largely by the opening night of the coming session. The official name of the party is now The Conservative Party of Canada. J. G. Glassco, the late Premier was elected leader of the party, and in stating his views, he remarked that the policy of the late government had been a decidedly conservative one.

Prominent Men Associated
The meeting yesterday was attended by the attendance of several well-known figures, some of whom have been in retirement for some time, and now appear to back the reorganized Conservative party. T. P. Mitchell, D. Everett, J. C. Quinlan, Cy Morris and A. Proctor have all expressed their sympathies with the Opposition, and it is intimated in political circles, that several members will make their maiden speech from the Conservative side of the House.

Policy Announced
The policy of the party, as set out yesterday afternoon, differs but slightly with that of the late Government. The party is pledged to its supporters to oppose violently any further reductions of the tariff, and any further cuts proposed by the Rationals will meet with a forceful protest. The party further announced its stand on Empire Unity, and stated itself as being thoroughly in accord with the preference and other proposals to further that Unity, as expressed in the speech from the Throne of the Baldwin Government in England.

Th caucus closed with suggestions from the members of the party, whose enthusiasm was marked. Plans have been made for the coming session and in this camp, there appears to be an optimism of the results, which clearly illustrates the ardour of this Conservative party.

APPRECIATION OF MUSIC IN MANY LANDS

R.V.C. MUSIC CLUB

National Anthems Discussed and Illustrated by Students

"National Anthems" was the subject of an interesting paper given by Miss Madeline De Bois, at the meeting of the R. V. C. Music Club Thursday afternoon. The first part of the paper discussed music and its relation to the world in general, and the power which music has over the majority of people. Each country has its favorite instrument, nothing stirs the patriotism of the Scotch as the sound of the bagpipes, Scottish soldiers retreating in battle have brought back at the sound of the bagpipes. The degree of musical ability of a people is not by the status of the upper or the lower classes; music is the result of a spontaneous emotion. The Swiss love music as they love their country, all

The itinerary of the team is as follows: Leave Montreal this morning at 8.30, and play Dartmouth this evening at Hanover. From Hanover to Vermont, playing the University of Vermont Saturday, and returning to Montreal Sunday. There will be no Christmas trip this year, but a return game has been arranged with Vermont in Montreal, to take place on Feb. 26th.

NEW PARTY TO SWEEP PARLIAMENT

Hold Caucus To-day; Strong Backing

POWERFUL

Not to Bother With Petty Squabbling

If there was excitement after the Mock Parliament, when the government was defeated by over forty votes, there will be still greater excitement when the cross benches make things lively next Thursday night at the third session. It is reported that there are men in the new party who have had much experience with both others, but who are not interested in the petty squabbling that is now going on within the ranks of these parties. They feel that the smallness of the motives that are behind the actions of the hitherto important parties makes it impossible for them to continue their associations with these parties.

The names of J. Spector, Eugene Forsey and S. Schweisberg, who enjoy enviable reputations in parliamentary circles, have been mentioned as supporters of the new party, which is expected to make things hot on the parliament floor on the night of the 13th.

There will be a caucus of the new party to-day at 3.00 p. m., in the lounge room of the Union when the final details of organization will be gone into. It is expected that the new party will make known all its decisions. The tenets of the new party will be of so broad a nature as to ensure the cross-benchers having an extraordinarily large following. Many members of the Mock Parliament have long declared themselves wholly dissatisfied with the rotten state of affairs obtaining in parliament, and are ready to join the new organization which stands for the common good, and which declares itself to be above petty squabbling and nonsense and time-wasting. The new party, on getting into power, will endeavour to bring before the governing body of the nation a series of bills of prime importance, such as will show Canada the power of the men who are behind the party.

C. W. STANLEY IN LECTURE AT Y.M.C.A.

Crowded Hall Heard Noted Critic Lecture on "Samuel Butler"

"The interesting people are the versatile and therefore Samuel Butler is popular," said Carlton N. Stanley, in a lecture on Samuel Butler, at the Stevenson Hall last night. A crowded hall heard Mr. Stanley speak under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. Schools. Samuel Butler, the speaker pointed out, was a man of wide interests. He was a painter, a musician, a composer, a sheep-raiser and finally, his last and final choice of a profession, a writer. He was the greatest wit of his generation. Mr. Stanley then gave a brief outline of Butler's philosophy and his outlook on life. Butler did not like Montreal, where he lived for some years. The mountain was the feature that kept him in this city. Mr. Stanley then mentioned some of Butler's opinions on evolution. The address was concluded by the reading of passages from Butler's greatest work, Life in Heaven.

other countries do not show such an order of love for music.

Adopted music is marked by a less national character than that composed in a country. The English national anthem when transplanted, undergoes changes in the land into which it is adopted. The English adopt a foreign tune more readily than other nations and they can take over a German tune more easily than a Japanese air. Thus we see how the less we know about any country the more ridiculous their music seems to us. In some country superstition and mysticism is closely connected with music. (Continued on page 4.)

RATIONAL REALIZING RELIABILITY

New Prime Minister Busy With Affairs of States

CABINET SENSATION

Lloyd Scores Party Campaigning in Statement

"I am busy forming my cabinet and expect to announce the men who will compose it during the course of the next few days," declared the "Rational" Arthur Lloyd, prime minister and leader of the Rational party announced last night. "While I would not like to make any particular statements in regard to the coming session let me assure you," the minister further said, "that the new cabinet will be an ideal one. I have searched throughout my party for the most capable men it has to offer and I am giving the matter the greatest consideration. I want the right man for the right office and I am confident that when I announce my cabinet there will be many sensational surprises. But there will also be universal approval."

Referring to the noise of the other parties in their calling caucuses and general meetings, the prime minister declared that there would be no such methods resorted to by the Rationals. He scored the new party as well as the opposition on the grounds that both were raising a tremendous fuss without having as yet heard of the policies of the government. "Our methods are so open-handed, so straightforward, and our ideas so apparently for the good of the Dominion as a whole, that the only objectors in the house will be those who are pessimistically inclined, those who profess themselves to be profound skeptics and those who know not what they do," Lloyd said.

Explaining the reason for no strenuous campaigning the Government leader pointed to the fact that he was tremendously busy outlining the new policy and appointing the cabinet and was leaving his supporters to carry on the work for the Rationals. As soon as the cabinet will be announced there will be a meeting of that body in which the proposed legislation will be gone through carefully and the establishment would be finally brought about.

PRICE MAY BE LOWERED ONCE MORE

Sales Tax on Annual May be Paid by Board

1200 COPIES

Only Full Subscription List Can Make Reduction Possible

According to reports received up to last night, the subscription campaign for the 1926 Annual is very successful, and there is every chance that the required 1200 copies will be signed for and the price of the book reduced once more, and the board will pay the sales tax. The Board, however, states definitely that there would be no reduction unless, fully 1200 copies were subscribed for. "We wish to remind the students that there are only a few more days in which they may make up their minds. The lists will be withdrawn from circulation on the 17th, and only those who have signed will be able to obtain copies of the book." This statement was made by a member of the Annual board yesterday.

"The McGill Annual is a book that every student should have. It is a record of all that has happened during the college year, and is something that may be pointed to with pride in years to come. I would like to see every student sign for a copy." The above remark was made yesterday by Basil C. MacLean, president of the students Council, who further urged every student to see that his delinquent friends signed up without delay.

The contract for the printing and engraving of the book will be definitely. (Continued on page 4.)

MACCABEAN CIRCLE TO HEAR MR. FITCH

Will Speak on "The Pharisees, the Sadducees, and the Essenes"

Mr. Louis Fitch, K. C., one of the most promising lawyers in the city, will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Maccabean Circle, which will be held in the hall-room of the McGill Union on Wednesday evening, at 8.15. Members of the Circle will remember Mr. Fitch from last year when he addressed them on the School Question. They know him as an interesting speaker of merit.

"The Pharisees, the Sadducees, and the Essenes," is the subject which Mr. Fitch has chosen. These three ancient sects of Judaism it will be remembered, thrived at the time of the Second Temple. The influence of the Pharisees and the Sadducees on the religious and political life, respectively, of the Jews of that time is tremendous, and these divisions into cults has meant much for the Jews. The Essenes, on the other hand, produced many religious ascetics such as John the Baptist.

It is expected that there will be a large turn out to hear Mr. Fitch speak. All are welcome.

CO-EDS DISDAIN WEATHER

Even the weatherman can't daunt the co-eds.

The first intramural hockey tournament for women was scheduled for this week. And it snowed. The fair hockey players couldn't have their half buried. So 16 co-eds, volunteers from the physical education classes, captained by Dorothy Sumption, department of physical education, yesterday afternoon armed themselves with 16 long-handled, unwieldy "whitewings" brooms and swept the snow from their pet hockey field.

CROSS WORD PUZZLE? "OLD AS THE VERY HILLS," SAYS 'VARSITY'

"Cross-word Puzzles," Sapristi! used to solve them when I was five years old," exclaimed Professor De Champ, when disturbed by a Toronto "Varsity" reporter last night on the subject of cross-word puzzles.

"They are certainly not a new invention," he said. "Why, forty years ago the weekly papers of Paris and the Continent carried a page of cross-word puzzles in para-logograms, lozenges, squares, and every conceivable shape. Then once a week all the old bachelors of the town would go side by side to the cafe and sit and discuss the cross-words of the week."

"Cross-word puzzles are an excellent medium for improving vocabulary," he declared. "I know in my playdays even the English vocabulary is not so good. It might improve with the help of cross-word puzzles, but all the same they are an awful waste of time." Professor De Champ did not agree, however, with the suggestion that he have his classes solve French cross-word puzzles to improve their French vocabularies.

GRAVITY OF ADOLESCENCE EMPHASIZED

Mr. J. L. Paton, M.A. Speaks To Teachers

AUTHORITY

"Key to Social Betterment is in View," Says Lecturer

"Adolescence is the breeding ground of our social trouble and in its right treatment lies the key to social betterment—Mr. John Lewis Paton, M.A. (Cantab) the retiring High Master of Manchester Grammar School, ended his lecture on "Adolescence" last evening with the above statement.

The audience, made up largely of teachers of the leading High and Public Schools of the City, listened to a most forceful lecture which has been given at McGill for some time past. The speaker comes to Canada on an extended visit of about a year at the invitation of the National Council of Education.

He dwelt with the re-birth of the physical, mental and moral of the individual during the adolescent period which comes to a close at about the eighteenth year.

The seeds of crime, alcoholism and moral disease are usually sown at this stage in the life history of every member of the community.

Under the present educational system, the responsibility of training young people at this age falls almost exact on the line between the High School and the University. The tremendous responsibility of both these grades of institutions in the life of the community cannot be easily over-emphasized. Mr. Paton has had over thirty years teaching experience so he is in a position to speak with authority. Samuel Johnson once said that the key to social betterment is "The need of largeness of environment." The speaker divided the statement into four classes namely: (a) Large scope for expenditure of energy. (b) Large scope for development of interests. Hobbies. (c) Large social environment. (d) The background of God. Building around the health centres.

Dr. I. A. MacKay Dean of the Faculty of Arts, president at the meeting and introduced the speaker. In summing up the lecture he said: "I never see a student cross the Threshold which lies across the doorway to the dean's office but that I say to myself, 'Here comes another adolescent Caesar, crossing the Rubicon to defeat 'of victory.' among those present were Sir Arthur Currie, Col. and Mrs. Bovey.

The next lecture which will be the record of the series of "Adolescence," will be held Monday next at 5 p.m. in the Chemistry Building. All teachers and others interested in education of young men and women are invited to attend.

"The Plastic Age" has created much excitement among the students as to whether or not students think about things which the book says to do. 1. the Dartmouth Alumni Magazine, Harry R. Wellman gives his opinion of what a college student thinks about. In order of importance they are: Himself, women, activities, studies, religion, movies, liquor, and men.

WHERE MEN ACCUMULATE AND WEALTH DECAYS

"Of all the trails that lead to nowhere, that kill ambition and kindle vice, the most often followed is the trail of debt. It behooves us all to play square with the whole world."

The trail of debt is still as well beaten as it was when Young wrote the above words. True, nowadays, the lot of the debtor is not the debtor's prison, nor are the creditors, as in earlier days, able to enslave and auction those who were unable to pay their debts. In those far-off days when a borrower could not discharge his obligation he went through a little ceremony of having the sword and buckler of the freeman taken from him and of taking up the bill and the goad emblematic of serfdom. One of the proverbs of a certain well-known and very wise king who lived about ten centuries before our era is: "The borrower is the servant of the lender." In our day, debtors who are unable to pay their debts are declared bankrupts—not a very pleasant thing to contemplate—and by process of law are stripped of all they possess. So it is seen that the history of this lamentable condition extends from the very remote past down to the present.

However, it is not to the very gross forms of indebtedness for which, in the past, the unhappy culprits could be enslaved or imprisoned, or in the present declared bankrupts, but a milder form of the same condition which is the thesis of this editorial. It is the practice of borrowing small sums and neglecting to pay back these loans, or allowing them to be outstanding for long periods.

It does not seem to be the habit of men who are working their way partly or wholly through college, to incur debts among their friends which they are unable to discharge. To them money represents the means of acquiring education. It has the additional property of having been earned. For these reasons these men know the value of money and do not lightly fritter it away. The men with fairly generous allowances which should suffice for their needs, are most likely to be the offenders. There are innumerable ways, centering around the proverbial trio, in which these youths may waste their substance.

The downward path is easily found. Some friend will "stake them with a couple of bucks till the end of the month." It is easy to put off the day of repayment and small sums are hard to remember. Small debts added grow just as surely in the wrong direction as small credits in the bank grow in the right direction.

There is reason to believe that this condition is preventable by a little thought and foresight. If a man's means do not permit him to keep up with a prodigal crowd then he should look carefully at his prospects. Coming from one of our well-known card games there is a term quite applicable to these people: "four flusher." In the words of the great Lincoln, "You can't fool all the people all the time."

CONDENSED COMMENT

Bliss Carman, best known and best Canadian poet, will give a recital to-night at 8.30, in the Convocation Hall of the R.V.C. One who has accomplished so much in making Canadian literature something more than a spot on the world's literary map, is deserving of wide recognition in the Dominion. Some critics discriminate between the worth of his earlier and later work. That fact does not lessen the appreciation of the average lover of poetry for Carman's work. We hope that there is an appreciable number of average lovers of poetry at McGill and that they will go to hear Bliss Carman, a Canadian who has enriched Canadian literature by more than a few poetic gems.

In to-day's issue appears a report of the caucus of one of the parties of the Mock Parliament. This party has taken a definite stand and assumed the name and principles of one of the leading parties in every British country. This marks a forward step in the policy of the "Parliament" and, if not abused, should prove a valuable one. We assume that this party will follow the policies which the name demands, and if this be so, Parliament may eventually adopt the attitude of English and Scottish universities. We may see students here thinking in terms of Conservative and Liberal and in the process gaining a knowledge of national policy and politics. If this should come about McGill would be fulfilling more tangibly than any other Canadian university, an important function—that of preparing men to be fully capable on graduation of assuming the duties of national citizenship.

"Mother"

"Daddy said Uncle Jim was the bee's knees. What does the bee's knees mean?"
"That's just slang for the cat's meow, dear."

A tear for the girl in the Lincoln
Who swore she could drive without thinking,
When indulging in talk
She drove off the dock
And the ferry men claim she's still sinking.

ODE TO INSOMNIA

Under the spreading chestnut tree,
His fleece was as white as snow;
Could I love you as you love me
Oh, see the falling snow.
And mark the swallow on the wing,
Where stand the stern Gibraltar--
The Battalion Office phone won't ring;
Bring the old grey mare a halter.
Ring out each factory whistle
And drip, you gory blood,
'Tis the bee spins the thistle.
For here a hero stood.
Let not breaking thunder break,
Nor all the maids be vexed
But let me just one good mark make
And this shall be my text:
That mountains all to dust return
Beside the firelight flicker.
And may the pale of dawn soft burn,
Stop now, stop fast, stop quicker.

ICE SOON

Christmas Holiday League
Will be Formed

Plans for class hockey are now underway and if the weather man is reasonable, it is expected that the schedule will begin shortly after the Christmas holidays. If the present frigidty of the weather continues,
a good ice surface can be available
the beginning of next week. For those remaining in town, there is talk of a Christmas league being formed and lists are being circulated so that all those intending to participate may sign up. As regards the class hockey, things are already underway, and the class managers are being appointed. The following are the rules that govern all inter-class contests.

All authority with reference to practice hours, dates of games and times of same, eligibility of players to compete and appointment of officials, together with the conduct of games and practices shall be vested in the Manager of class hockey, who shall decide the case on its merits and his decision shall be final.

In the absence of the manager, his duly appointed representative or a substitute appointed by the Hockey Club shall exercise his powers.

Each class shall appoint a class manager and a team captain, one of whom shall be present at each practice. He must give his name and class and telephone number to the Manager. If either the class manager of the team captain is absent the other may act for him.

The duties of the Class Manager
shall be as follows:—

(a) To see that his players are present punctually, that they leave promptly at the end of the practice without disorder, and that the property of the club is handed over intact.

(b) To furnish the names, initials and Faculty year of every man playing or practising. Each player must sign his name on the forms provided at the rink for this purpose and the manager must see that these forms are properly filled.

(c) If in charge of the practice
he will see that no rough or dangerous play is permitted, and will see that any man injured is attended to, notifying the Department of Physical Education at once by messenger.

(d) He will be responsible that every man entered, is in the proper category and in good standing in the Club. The Club is not bound to receive him if a man is eligible; he must inquire of the Manager at least two days before the game.

(e) He will sign the book provided for all the equipment issued and see that it is returned in good order
at the end of the practice.

(f) In the event of bad or uncertain weather, he will inquire at the Secretary's Office in the Union whenever there will be a game or practice
as scheduled.

(g) In the event of a protest he will forward the same in writing to the Manager on the day following the game.

(h) He will make himself familiar with all new rules and changes as they are published, and publication in the "Daily" shall be sufficient notice.
Practice hours shall take place as scheduled, subject to alteration as circumstances or any state of the weather may require, an hour cancelled for any reason cannot be replaced by another hour but attendance will be allowed. Hours will be arranged at a later date.

The attendance of all years will be recorded on the forms provided by the manager, or at his discretion by the class manager. This information is of great statistical value and will be required to be carefully kept as regards spelling, initials, faculty and years of players.

Insofar as the regulation governing compulsory physical education is concerned, attendance by first and second year men in lieu of other forms of Athletics will be governed by the regulation governing attendance at lectures, and failure to attend will be reported to the Department of Physical Education.

Eligibility to compete in games will be governed by the Rules of the Athletic Association. A man shall be ineligible who:—

1 Takes part in outside athletics
without the sanction of the Athletic Association.

2 Has not been examined as prescribed by the department of Physical Education and in accordance with the rules adopted by the Athletic Association.

3 Has previously played this season
for more than one half a game or has previously taken part in more than one game on the intermediate or junior hockey teams or has at any time in this or any previous season taken part in more than one half a game on the senior hockey team provided however, that such a player may be reinstated by a statement in writing from the coach to the effect that the player is no longer part of the regular line up of the team or that he has been dropped from the hockey team.

4 Is not an amateur in good standing in the Athletic Association or has been suspended by that body.
Any match in which a man is played who is ineligible shall be forfeited by the team for which he shall have played. If both teams shall have played such a man, they shall neither receive credit for the match, and in elimination contests shall be disqualified for further competition. In the interfaculty series, each shall be credited as having lost the game, nor shall any goals scored be recorded.

Matches shall take place at the dates and the hours assigned. In no case will overtime be played, but a draw will be recorded. In the event of a tie, the match will be played off at a later date.

Matches will commence at five minutes past the hour and will consist of two periods of twenty minutes including any interruptions. Five minutes interval will be allowed between periods. Play shall stop at the end of the second period.

In the event of a team being late the period will not be extended but the time will be divided into two smaller periods. A team which is not ready to face its opponents at fifteen (15) minutes after the hour allotted shall be deemed to have lost the game by default. The opposing captain may however elect to play the game for the balance of the hour if he chooses, the game being then counted but such a game must stop at the closing of the hour allotted.
If neither team is ready at the time,
the game shall be played for the balance of the hour. The watch of the manager shall be deemed of daily to be correct. Games will not be postponed except for bad or inclement weather.

The play shall be governed by the rules of the Intercollegiate Hockey Union where they apply and are not expressly modified. The decision of the referee shall be final, and any dispute or disorder resulting out of a decision shall cause the offenders to lose the game. The captain of the team aggrieved may file a protest with the manager.

The team shall consist of six men
and only four substitutes shall be allowed. By mutual consent men may be replaced after they have been removed.

The following officials shall be appointed by the manager from a neutral timekeeper and two goal judges.
Coaching from the side lines shall not be allowed.

The points in the inter-faculty
series shall be rewarded as follows:
Won 2 points, Draw 1 point.
Protests must be submitted in writing to the manager on the day following the match for transmission to the Hockey Club. No appeal shall be allowed in the case of protests arising out of:—

Matches defaulted.
Men who are not eligible to compete.

Failure to submit list of players.
Matches forfeited by disorderly
conduct.

The penalty for a major foul shall be four minutes and for a minor foul two minutes. If any player shall incur four minor penalties or two major penalties, in any one game he shall be suspended from the league
for one game played by his team,
and if after such an occurrence he incurs such number of penalties in any future games he shall be barred from further participation in inter-class or inter-faculty hockey for the year. He may appeal to the manager for reinstatement.

The winners shall hold the "Capt Porter Trophy" for the year.

FROM DAILY FILES

Dec. 12, 1921.

Judging by the increasing interest displayed by the student body in the Sunday afternoon Musicales given by the Students' Orchestra at the institution and under the patronage of the Union House Committee, they are proving a decided success. Some few years ago the Monday musicales were a regular and popular institution at the University, but the custom lapsed, and in its re-organization the McGill Students' Orchestra devoted its main efforts to the production of formal concerts. Under the present system it is filling a great need in the University in a very practical manner.

With the majority, sad to say, good music is an acquired taste, and proper appreciation of it can be gained only in small but frequent doses.
Music is an integral part of a cultural education.

Dec. 12, 1922.

Music is confirming its place among the Undergraduate activities. "Mc-Gill Nite" at the Allen to-morrow.
"Jazz Tea" in the Union Thursday afternoon and the Glee Club concert at the Royal Victoria College the same evening. All serve to emphasize the fact that the Musical Association has a certain role to fill at the University. And that it is taking part in a fitting manner. All these merit the attention of the students and it is safe to assume that such will be meted to them, despite the circumstance that they may be other affairs to disspate interest.

Fists, Falls and Foils

The elimination bouts in the Gunn Trophy Meet for freshman were held yesterday in Molson Hall. There were two boxing and four wrestling bouts.
The boxing was in the 135 and 126 lb.
classes. In the first match Dixon defeated Schwartz in a clever boxing exhibition taking the first round by a shade. Schwartz evened up the second and Dixon secured the last by his fast footwork making many of his opponents blows fall short. In the 126
lb. fight Cohen won every round from Cahler, the first by a shade the others
by quite a margin.

Murchison won his bout in the 160 lb.
wrestling by throwing Henry twice in two minute and 20 seconds. Shaw a 135 pounder scored two falls from Shottenfeld the first in two minutes
and another 3 minutes and 20 seconds later.

There were two matches in the 117
lb. class. In the first Anzevin defeated DeBoyle in seven minutes and fifteen seconds and in the last Zirlitzky beat Kingston, the first fall being in three minutes and another three minutes later. Giulianchi won by default.
The final in this Meet will be held at 4 P. M. Saturday in Molson Hall.
There will be twelve bouts. The regu-

ARTS WIN INITIAL GAME FROM DENTS.

Zimand Strikes out Thirteen Batters

Yesterday Arts '27 won the first game of the inter-faculty indoor baseball series from Dentistry in a thrilling seven inning game in the Montreal High School gym.
Zimand, capt. and pitcher of the Arts '27 team won the toss and chose the field. He retired the first three men in order. Arts opened the scoring in their half by three runs, which were neutralized in the next two innings. By faultless fielding and pitching and timely hitting, the Dents gradually drew ahead and at the end of the sixth led thirteen to six.
The main break came in the lucky seventh when Zimand retired three in a row. Borwick who had pitched a fine game for Dentistry weakened a little and the Arts sluggers taking advantage scored eight runs in a last minute rally to win the game. Sherzer, Berwick, Goldman and Burbank starred for Dents while Zimand, Cohen, Blond and Miller did the heavy work for Arts.

CAN. AND U.S. HOCKEY SIMILAR

There isn't any real difference between the American and Canadian styles of playing hockey," stated Coach Ramsay of the University ice squad when questioned on this point by a representative of the Princetonian yesterday. The former Olympic star added that individuality and teamwork form the basis of any good sport, the reason for the success of Canadian amateur and professional teams outside of their own country being that they possess both these essentials developed to a higher degree. The University of Toronto, winner of the intercollegiate championship of the Dominion for the past five years, was mentioned as an exceptional example of this.
"Another factor in the superiority which Canadian hockey has been able to claim is its systematic organization," Mr. Ramsay continued. "All non-professional competition is in the hands of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, while the College Union, which is affiliated with the latter, controls intercollegiate play. Each province, however, possesses its own amateur association which has under its jurisdiction the hockey in that area."
"At the end of the season the provincial title-holders in the eastern and western divisions of the Dominion enter tournaments and the winners of East and West are then declared. Finally these two sectional teams compete in a two game series, the combination scoring the greatest total of points being awarded the Allen Cup, emblematic of the Amateur Championship of Canada. Sault Ste. Marie (Ontario) defeated the Winnipeg Victorias in last year's finals." Mr. Ramsay was a member of the Granite Club (Toronto) team which captured first honors in 1923 and which was later chosen to represent the Dominion at the Olympics.
Championship college teams have an opportunity to enter the lists for the amateur crown by challenging the final series. In 1921 the University of Toronto stockmen took the Allen Cup in this manner. The present Tiger coach also played on this sextet. The University skaters will oppose either London or Stratford, Niagara Falls, and Port Colborne, all amateur teams from the province of Ontario.
Professional hockey in the Dominion is also on a sound basis, according to Mr. Ramsay, having been organized almost 25 years ago. Two leagues, from the eastern and western sections have been formed and the final winners of these contend in what is known as the World's Hockey Series. At Ottawa last winter the Canadians of Montreal defeated Vancouver in three games out of five and received the title. Boston is entering a team in the eastern division this season, being the first American city to do so.

ORCHESTRAL CONCERT AT
R.V.C. SUCCESS

Season's First Performance
Heard by Large Audience

MUSIC STUDENTS
Soloists, Misses Birkett,
James, Percival, Wein-
field and Mr. Halden

The first Orchestral concert of the season, took place last evening in the Royal Victoria College Hall before a large and appreciative crowd.
The Orchestra, under the skillful baton of Dr. Perrin achieved a high standard of excellence.
The soloists, the Messes Winfield Birkett, Frances James, Vera Weinfield, Lillian Percival and Mr. George Holden contributed no less to the success of the evening, and received as they deserved enthusiastic applause.
The first orchestral selection, "Hansel and Gretel" had as an introduction a solemn passage in the key of G, of the Opera, by that name. It incorporates the music for the prayer of the two children lost in the woods. The following three themes deal with the search for the children, the good angels watching over them and finally the recovery of the children by their parents. These three themes together with that of the introduction are used with great skill by the composer through out the overture.
The third symphony in E, by Dvorak, though not so well-known as either the fourth or the fifth symphonies, has attributes which establish it in the favour of orchestral music lovers. The folk-like simplicity of the themes used, the atmosphere of geniality, and the effective scoring, combine to make it a work commanding attention.
The last item on the programme was another orchestral number, two charming Spanish Dances by Moszkowski.
The vocal soloists, Miss James and Mr. Holden, gave pleasing interpretations of songs which were very popular with the audience. Miss Weinfield and Miss Percival in their pianoforte solos and Miss Birkett in her Violin Solo also showed great ability.
The program was as follows:—
Overture Hansel and Gretel-Humboldt.
Violin Solo (with Orchestra) La Folia—Carrell.
Miss Winnifred Birkett.

In reviewing the 1921 Olympic hockey tournament at Chamoni, the coach remarked that the Canadian game is being taken up by a larger group of European nations each year and is unusually popular at the Swiss resorts. The teams from the Continent, however, were mainly composed of older men, with the exception of Sweden, who is developing younger players of exceptional ability.

Itely awarded next Wednesday, when the board meets for the last time before the Christmas vacation. At this meeting, the titles of the articles that are to be contributed by prominent professors will also be announced. The cover for the book will not be chosen until after the holidays, but it is definitely known that the book will assume the same shape as it has done in the past three years. This form enables students to stand a number of the volumes side by side.
When college breaks up for the Christmas vacation much work on the book will have been completed, and several of the editors, being in town during the holidays will continue work on the book during the two weeks respite from classes. The board desires especially to have the book out and for this reason is urging that all write-ups be handed in as early as possible.
The athletic section of the book is being developed along unique lines and will be made additionally attractive by the inclusion of several very good snapshots.

It is gratifying to read the clean news that a college paper purveys. The reason that there is none of the other sort printed is because little or none of that kind happens. College students in the most part are clean in their thinking and living—something which cannot be said of other classes taking them as a group. They would not appreciate dirt in their papers if it were submitted to them. We do not blame the daily commercial papers for printing what they do, because it is news and their service to the public as newspapers demands that the news be placed before them, but when the daily press takes time out from its scandal peddling to criticize college life and students we cannot help but compare the two kinds of publications and the people they serve.

APPRECIATION OF MUSIC IN

The speaker pointed out that the composers of national songs were rarely known. As they stand at present the national airs of most countries are the product of fables, most of them having been composed in a moment of ardour and later undergoing changes which were generally beneficial. Then followed a discussion of the different national songs and each one was illustrated by vocal or instrumental selections.
"God Save the King" first appeared about 1716 and not one person has been definitely associated with it. Miss De Biech illustrated the relation of three tunes which were successively used to that which we use at the present time.
The author of the Austrian national anthem was so impressed with the effect on the English people of the singing of "God Save the King," that he wrote a song to arouse the patriotism of his country.
Miss Bonford sang "Watch on the Rhine," the German national anthem, which was first a popular folk song and was taken up by the soldiers during the war of 1871.
The Russian anthem was also written as a result of the English anthem. It is a stately piece and has none of the characteristic of Russian popular music. The well known Russian favorite as sung by the Dumbells was recommended as a substitute for the old hymn. Misses Tweedie and Robson capably illustrated these difficult songs.
The Marseillaise and the Belgium air were both the result of enthusiasm on the part of the composers. Miss Kyle sang the Belgium song in the national tongue. Italy was without a national hymn for centuries owing to the lack of unity in the country. Garibaldi's hymn was created during the stirring times of 1858. Miss Perrin gave a violin solo to illustrate this swaying air.
The Japanese anthem was sung by Miss Gleena Griggs, the speaker then gave the history of the "Star Spangled Banner" concluded her remarks by a short sketch of "Rule Britannia."
Choruses consisting of the national airs of Canada and the countries. Composing the British Isles, was a fitting finish to this interesting paper.
Miss Perrin, the president, then called on Mrs. H. K. Harris who displayed her marked musical ability by rendering the "Valse Triste" with a technique which showed full appreciation of the story on which this composition is based. As an encore Mrs. played a Scandinavian Serenade full of light fantastic touches.

This interesting and instructive programme was keenly appreciated by the large audience. Miss Gurside, Miss Edwards, and Miss Foster were among those present. Tea was served as a pleasant conclusion to an enjoyable afternoon.
